

Melissa shares her difficult experience with bulimia beginning with the struggle of growing up in an alcoholic home where feelings were swept under the rug, but external appearances, achievement and perfectionism were emphasized. Later, a devastating divorce, depression and panic attacks threw fuel on the fire of the bulimia, resulting in suicidal thoughts. Melissa illustrates how the word of God intervened and saved her life. She feasted on God's word in the Bible and found that "the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword". It changed her heart and life. "Taste and see that the Lord is good" became a reality when reading His word replaced bingeing as a way to numb fear, pain, loneliness, and inadequacy. Food couldn't fill the hungry aching void; only God could, as revealed in His word. God's unconditional love, mercy, grace, and acceptance are poured out on us through the words, life, crucifixion and resurrection of His Son Jesus Christ, who gives us new life. Jesus is the antidote to every wound, pain, self-doubt, fear, and hunger in the heart. The truth broke the chains of bulimia and set Melissa free. She explores the scriptures that brought hope, healing, and freedom, then asks the reader questions to reflect on and to facilitate their own understanding, healing, and freedom. "And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. Therefore if the Son makes you free, you shall be free indeed." John 8:32, 36
