

The In-Depth Genealogist (IDG) is a publishing company that provides educational resources for the genealogical community. The In-Depth Genealogist provides an active blog, monthly digital magazine, various books, community chats and a world wide event calendar. We share our knowledge and experience in a friendly, approachable, and entertaining way. Each issue of the magazine, Going In-Depth, includes guest articles, regular columns, and free resources such as "Ask Ephraim" and "Missing in Action Ancestors" (MIAA) to help you along your family history journey. As with all IDG products, we strive to create a resource for every genealogist, no matter the age, stage, or focus of your research. In each issue there are new research methods, information on particular topics, and personal stories to grab the reader's imagination in pursuing their own research.
