According to this high authority, the best tests have been made at the Municipal Hospital of Philadelphia, and unfortunately they show a higher death rate with antitoxin than without it. The former is 28.1 and the latter 25.9 per cent. The most exhaustive article which has appeared, from any single individual, is published in the Record for June 20th, by Dr. Jos. E. Winters. From this report we learn that the mortality at the Willard Parker Hospital is 24.42 per cent. In the Blagdan Hospital of Copenhagen the mortality is the same, thirty-three per cent with and without antitoxin. In the New York Foundling Asylum, in 1894 when no antitoxin was used, the mortality was twenty-four per cent in 1895, with antitoxin, it was 45.7 per cent. The Metropolitan Asylums Board of London gives the mortality in tracheotomy cases as 10.2 per cent higher in those cases treated with antitoxin. Dr. Jos. Ewing treated fifty patients with antitoxin, with a death rate of thirty-eight per cent. Dr. W. W. Seymour reports a mortality in intubation cases treated with antitoxin, of 33.3 per cent, and 14.2 per cent of those treated without it. Sonnenburg of Berlin, gives a mortality of 37.8 per cent in tracheotomy cases treated with antitoxin and when the serum could not be obtained his mortality was 37.1 per cent. Dr. Winters also gives a startling array of figures to prove the injurious effects of the antitoxin in producing paralysis and albuminuria. While the testimony is still rapidly accumulating in favor of antitoxin, yet when a man makes the statement that all opposition is dying out, he certainly shows he is not familiar with recent li...
